

Good morning (good afternoon) ladies and gentlemen

Distinguished chair and coo chairs, my name is Jorge Roberto Pacheco Linares, I am representing the GEO Principal of Peru

Allow me to express the gratitude of my country and our commitment to work with GEO on all issues of concern that are being addressed in this Plenary.

Peru as a developing country of South America, it needs to strengthen the foundation for development; one of these bases; it is the security to have a healthy environment that will ensure the sustainability of healthy development.

I want to show that Peru is committed to follow the recommendations of environmental protection and launched a frontal fight against deforestation and illegal mining.

Peru wants to be an active Americas Caucus member to protect the Amazonian forest, the Andean glaciers as water source, to follow carefully the climate change and to prevent risk against tsunamis, land slow, earthquake and The Niño Phenomena.

I hope that after the Climate Change Conference (COP20) that will host in Lima from 1st to 12th December my country will adopt many good rules to protect our environment and to be very carefully with the climatic changes.

However; in Peru there is narco-terrorism, a big problem that the government is trying to solve, we know it's not an easy task, but it is not impossible, therefore we continue to fight for a world with better quality of life for future generations.

Thank you dear Chairman
